

February 2010

“It was all very interesting, it would be really great to learn more about local history at school.”

Humour at the Mills...

3 There was one morning...the tea breaks had gradually extended, extended, extended and actually had 20 minutes for tea break instead of 10 minutes. And they were starting earlier, instead of going at 10 o'clock they were going at 9.50. This particular morning the foreman came out and read the riot act in the workshop. He came through and here's this chap toasting his bread and he says "What are you doing?" He says "I'm toasting my bread" He says "You're too early, you stop it" and he walked on and read the riot act in the welding shop. And he come back and this guy still toasting his bread and he says "What are you doing?" He says "I'm toasting the other side."

...We had a plumber, I'll never forget, he had a hole in his shoe, and he walked across the yard this day, a big puddle in the yard. And he hops through the puddle and he gets half way through the puddle and says "Oh no, wrong shoe" and he changed feet and hopped the rest of the way.

MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT	SUN
1	2	3	4	5	6 Oral History CELEBRATION! 1-5pm 13 Milton Row	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28