

April 2010

In the olden days the people did not have all the things we have but it sounded like they did have lots of fun.

Value of money

5 It was very little, compared to now. But you've got to understand that a £1 then was worth an awful lot more than it is now. So when I'm saying I worked from 7.30am till 5 or 5.30pm every day and on the Tuesday and Thursday I worked till 7.30pm and on the Saturday I worked up till lunch time till 12 o'clock. I think it was something like £3.25 and that was a brilliant wage but you worked all the hours to get it.

The thing was your bus fare. At that time I came from the Whins of Milton to come here for to work and at that time my return was 5 old pennies a return. 5 pence a return. Now I think it's more than £2. It's about £5.50 to go into Stirling for a return so Whins of Milton is just before Stirling. But you've got to realise that the £ was worth a lot more then than it is now.
